DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Jarrett (5,252,070).

Regarding claim 1, Jarrett discloses a moveable headrest (col. 3, lines 10-13), a support (the helmet as recited in col. 3, lines 8-9), an inherently included light source (all simulators have display play devices for simulating an environment), and an actuator (col. 3, lines 42-49) for causing the moveable headrest to execute attitudinal movements for emulation by the head of the user acting as a passive viewer as claimed.

Allowable Subject Matter

3. Claims 10-16 are allowed.
4. Claims 2-9 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments filed 9/17/03 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Regarding applicant's argument that "Even if Jarrett's actuator were to cause vertical movement as a result of the vertical force applied to the helmet, which is not mentioned by Jarrett, such would only be a vertical, i.e., linear translation in position, not corresponding to the claimed attitudinal movements", the Examiner disagrees. As clearly stated in the abstract, lines 3-5, Jarrett includes a "means for applying to a helmet worn by the operator a vertical force dependent on said g-force." As illustrated in Figure 2, the pneumatic actuator 14 generates vertical forces to the operator's helmet in either the up or down directions. Such movements, being in a narrower sense, clearly meet the attitudinal movements as claimed.

Regarding applicant's argument that "the helmet of Jarrett cannot be said to be a headrest for supporting a head of a user", the Examiner disagrees. The structure as illustrated in Figure 1 of Jarrett is a headrest because the user's head is resting on the structure.

Conclusion

6. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

Art Unit: 2614

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
